JOHN YOUNG BROWN IN KENTUCEY .- [From Young Brown, a truly-honored representative from this State, was still honored more on last Thursday by being censured by a vote of that gang of Radical traitors, thieves, carpet-baggers, scalawags, &c., who have control of the United States Congress, and who are headed by the chief spoon-thief and murderer Ben, Butler. The language used by Hon. John Young Brown was by no means as severe or unparliamentary as that used by these dastardly cowards who voted the censure upon him. In the eyes of his constituents, the citizens of Kentucky, he is raised higher in esteem-more honored and more respected. By this act of those unprincipled usurpers they have shown that Hon. John Young Brown, of Kentucky, has no lot nor store with them; that they cannot bribe true, gallant, and high-minded Kentuckians to enter into their bellish and devildesigned plans to overthrow the country. But that, despite their threatenings, their censures, their vite, unprincipled oppression, Kentuckians will speak their mind, and throw hot shot into the face of those hateful, detestable, and opprobrious villains and usurpers and their leaders. We feel proud to know that this vote of censure, coming from those it did, has fallen upon one of Kentucky's noblest sons, and we would only wish that we had more Browns, Becks, and Arthurs in Congress; and we are truly glad to see this well-deserved hero loudly praised for his true, manly, and heroic conduct by the press of the country, and especially that of his own loved State. And we are also glad to learn that he is daily receiving letters from prominent gentlemen in Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, and all through the South, congratulating him on his course, and thanking him for his denun- teach children such lessons.] ciation of Beast Butler.

It was supposed that every soul on board had perished, and was so telegraphed all over the country. But they were saved from such a fate by the courage of the lighthouse-keeper on the reefs, Captain Brooks-his name deserves to be men- press. tioned-and his heroic daughter. With only the girl to aid him Brooks set out in his lifeboat, and, with a long cable attached to it, succeeded in managing so well that the boat drifted towards the steamer and finally reached it. A Boy's IDEA OF HEADS ,- The Young American brings up a "boy's composition" on heads, as follows:

"Heads are of different shapes and sizes. They are full of notions. Large heads do not always hold the most. Some persons can tell just what a person is by the shape of his head. High heads are the best kind. Very knowing people are called long-headed. A man that won't stop for anything or anyso bright, they call him soft-headed; if he won't be coaxed nor turned, they call him pig-headed. Animals have large heads. The heads of fools slant back. Our heads are all covered with hair, except bald heads. There are other kinds of heads besides our heads. There are barrel-heads, heads of sermons, and some ministers used to have fifteen heads to one sermon; pin-heads, head of cattle (as the farmer calls his cows and oxen), headwind, drum-heads, cabbage-heads, at loggerheads, come to a head, like a boil; heads of why he didn't take the cars. chapters, head him off, head of the family, and go ahead, but first be sure you are right."

Troubles are like dogs, the smaller they are the more they annoy you. Most of the stories about courting and swinging on the gates are wicket lies. "What can't be cured must be sold fresh" is what they say in Porkopolis.

It is when a man rises above his circumstances that true manhood shows itself. It is better to be alone in the world than to bring up a boy to play on the accordeon.

Twas Saturday night, and a teacher sat Alone her task pursuing; She averaged this, and she averaged that, Of all her class was doing.

She reckoned percentage—so many boys, And so many girls, all counted, And marked all the tardy and absentees, And to what all the absence amounted. She name and residence wrote in full, Over many columns and pages— Yankee, Teutonic, African, Celt—

And averaged all their ages; The date of admission of every one, And cases of flagellation; And prepared a list of the graduates For the coming examination.

Her weary head sank low on her book, And her weary heart still lower,
For some of her pupils had little brai' 43,
And she could not furnish more.

She slept; she dreamed. It seemed she died, And her spirit went to Hades. And they met her there with a que tion fair: "State what the per cent. of you,r grade is."

Ages slowly rolled away, Leaving but partial traces; And the teacher's spirit wasked one day In the old familiar places. A mound of fos: lized school reports
